

Kitchen Perspective Looking into Entry

The entry way is set apart by a custom-built screen made from transparent glass that features the colors used throughout the space. This unique element grabs the user's attention within moments of walking into the space.

The screen pattern pays homage to Art Deco trends while keeping a modern aesthetic. The angular formation of the entry way reinforces the overall design concept in the loft.

Living Room Perspective

The woodwork (seen in the living room perspective and oblique view) reinforces the folding and shaping of the Swan Chair. The wood begins in the kitchen and then folds over the ceiling to create a railing for the second level. On the upper level, it is seen as a floor pattern before moving up the wall.

This element creates unity and a point of interest in the space as a whole.
